Conference Synopsis

The annual CTBUH Tall + Urban Innovation Conference explores and celebrates the very best in innovative tall buildings, urban spaces, building technologies, and construction practices from around the world. Incorporating what was previously known as the CTBUH Annual Awards event, this conference sees the owner/developer, design, engineering, and technical teams for 165 awarded projects present to the audience and live juries for the honor of overall award category distinction. See the 2021 Award-Winning projects on page 19.

The event brings a critical cross-section of tall building owners, developers, occupiers, operators, designers, engineers, and builders—along with the interested public—to investigate the cutting edge in sustainable urbanism, presented by the world's foremost examples.

Join us and explore what's on the horizon for dense vertical cities of the future!

AUDIENCE AWARDS

New and exciting for 2021, each category will also see the recognition of a separate audience award and trophy, based on each registered delegate having a vote across each award category during the event.

About the CTBUH

The Council on Tall Buildings and Urban Habitat (CTBUH) is the world's leading non-profit organization for all those interested in the future of cities. It explores how increased urban density and vertical growth can support more sustainable and healthy cities, especially in the face of mass urbanization and the increasing effects of climate change worldwide.

Founded in the USA in 1969, the CTBUH member network embraces more than two million professionals working in all building industry sectors in almost all countries of the world. With offices in Chicago, Shanghai, and Venice, the Council runs hundreds of multidisciplinary programs across the world each year, through its regional chapters and expert committees; its annual conferences and global awards program; through funded research projects and academic collaborations; and via its extensive online resources and physical outputs. The Council is perhaps best-known to the public as the arbiter of tall building height and the global authority that bestows titles such as "The World's Tallest Building". Operating on a global scale, the CTBUH serves as a platform for both cutting-edge information-share and business networking for all companies and professionals focused on the inception, design, construction, and operation of cities, and the buildings they comprise.
